

Miracles Are All Around You...

September 18, 2008

As long as we are getting more deeply into the mystery... we discover the solution all around you. These are the final lessons that we just read. Miracles are all around you, the resolution is all around you, is together alongside the problem... and you are making the choice all the time. What do you want to see...? The problem or the solution? Yes or no...?

Is the teaching that the problem or the solution side by side that you're making the decision...?, using all the power of the Universe, all the power of God in order to make the decision! The mystery is you...! The miracle is you...! It is important that you see that! Because you are looking at the resolution outside you and this is not possible, it is not out there...!

Now, as you fall more deeply into this mystery what you discover is, there is a solution within you and this is because there is only One self, and That self is you! And this is a matter of perspective and you can say there is One self, and you can know, through your direct experience, there is only One self... Now that knowing is the frequency that's been offered to you! It's important that you understand this...! We are not just talking... this are not simply words... this is a frequency...! A frequency of understanding... a frequency of acknowledgment more than anything else. Otherwise, it has nothing to do with you... is what is...It is that...! That One self is you! Stop fighting it!

What is very strange to me is when the light shows up, why in hell do you argue with it? I don't understand! It makes no sense. The Light shows up, you recognise it, and you argue with it...! You find fault with it, you look for places where Jesus is mistaken...He's got to be mistaken some where...then I can breathe easy...! I'll get to be me!

Jesus is not mistaken...! You Are! I need to hear you say it...! I am wrong, He is right...! Good, then you have it... I see it all the time and it's very curious, and it becomes more and more curious as the frequency increases.

Why would you argue with the light? Why would you resist the light which is offering you your own reality? The truth about you, the truth within you...? So maybe we can stop playing childish games...

I'm going to read lesson 140:

Only Salvation Can Be Said to Cure.

The only solution to this problem is salvation. Say... you can stop the search. You can stop seeking other solutions. There is only one problem and one solution. Just as a background I want to say something...You can think of salvation, and this is the salvation according to God now, not according to you! Because your plan of salvation is in direct opposition to God's.

Salvation is offering you a perspective where in which you see that everything is perfect exactly as it is, nothing needs to change, everything is whole, everything is perfect exactly as it is. All things are working together for the good. Exactly as they are, now if you think something needs to change you are mistaken...If you think there is something wrong you are mistaken. Everything is exactly as it should be according to his plan for salvation. Everything is in place. Exactly as it is... and I can go all directions from here...I've got head ache...Exactly! The dog is barking...Exactly! My children are sick...Exactly! If you are seeing something wrong, you are mistaken! No God! You're mistaken first of all in your perception. If you see something wrong you are mistaken in your perception...! Can you hear me?

Say to me sickness is a false perspective...That's how Jesus teach it...if I'm seeing sickness is a false perspective, if I'm seeing separate bodies...I'm wrong! I need help. I need help to see this as it is! I need a correction! That is what Jesus is offering you. A correction in your perception. Now there is a way of seeing... I'm trying to cover to you...but deem! It's not easy at this level; you resist it all the way...! Come on, it is all light...!

There is a prospective in light where you see everything is exactly as it should be. Nothing has to change. How does that look...? It looks like this: Everyone is bridging a gap exactly where they are in there own dream context, they're fulfilling a function according to God's plan for the salvation, even if they are not aware of this...! You are bridging the gap. In other words, you are Holy Spirit.

I try to teach this as a lineage. There is a lineage extending from the light outside time all the way down into the far corners of time and space...so that everyone is covered...everyone is safe...everyone is in contact with this light. Now, I'll teach it this way; Jesus, when he was here was a perfect demonstration of this. He taught as the trunk and the branches...I am the trunk you are the branches. Each one of you here has an association in consciousness. Let's call it the twelve apostles. Each one here has those twelve...each one here has those there assigned to him specifically according to Gods plan.

By the way that has nothing to do with me...All I am is the demonstration of the truth of that. That's between you and God. You have your twelve and you answer to God you don't answer to anyone else. Those twelve know you, they recognize you and they are waiting for you to acknowledge that you are here on God's behalf so they can come to you to be given the solution to be offered the resolution. Can you hear me...? They are waiting for you to be healed...!

You guys keep on putting the power outside of you... and hoping that some where out there is the cure you're seeking and is not out there, the answer is in you, because the answer is in the light and you are none other than the light is. Say; I am the light of the world!

Now, is Jesus mistaken about you...? Or are you, mistaken about Jesus...? Jesus says I am the light of the world! What do you think? Are you going to argue with him...? Oh! Not me...! I am not qualified...! What are you talking about? Do you see...? Do you see what you do...? You diminish your own power...You've been offered everything...

Ok, you've been given an assignment, a mission and that is between you and God it has nothing to do with me or anything in this place. It has to do with you in your association with the universe and no one can argue with that. How do you know you are fulfilling your function...?

Because you are happy, if you are happy you are in service! Not only that, if you are happy you are making happy! Can you hear that? It's very important...! If you are happy those around you are also happy...! Can you hear me a little bit...? If those around you are struggling if they're suffering if they're sick, you are responsible! The correction has to be made in you! Not outside there! You are not making a demand anywhere else...

I am trying to offer you everything... You still have the tendency to believe that sickness is objective it's not true and I'm looking right at you, there is no sickness outside you...I need to hear you say this...There is no sickness outside my mind...If I'm seeing sickness, my mind needs to be corrected. If I am seeing separation my mind needs to be corrected...! Now, here is where you are lucky...The correction is here...! The light has come...! The correction is all around you, I'm trying to raise your frequency. The solution is all around you.

Say to me; The solution is in the guy sitting next to me! When he shows up I see the solution...! It's a form of solution...What else can it possibly be...! It can't be anything else!

Ok I'm going to use lesson 140

Salvation is the only thing it cures. Because I want to go beyond the body awareness. We have a tendency to rest the vision on the body, and when the body appears to be sick you say... see God I told you so...is this what you do? Blaming God for the sake of the body, rather than stopping taking a breath and saying: I am responsible for this, it is my mind that needs to be corrected...

Father, show me...I need to see this differently!

Only Salvation Can Be Said To Cure. Lesson 140

"Cure" is a word that cannot be applied to any remedy the world accepts as beneficial.

Already you are shaking...! Already you're denying me...Why? You are still here.

If you are here, you don't believe what I just read. Because you believe the cure is here somewhere. The cure is to be found in a solution that the world is offering you. And I just came from outside time and I tell you, there is not cure here! You are wasting your time! There is no solution here!

You, individually have to look at your own mind to see what it is you are justifying, seeking a solution within the context of your dream. There is nothing I can do about that, except to tell you there is no solution! None!

Ok I'm going to be a teacher of God, is there a solution there...? Only for this instant! Only right now! You don't have a long term career as a teacher of God! Can you hear me? You can not make a career out of being the savoir of the world! You think it takes time...it does not take time, it only takes willingness. Takes an open disposition, ok, we've got all that from the first sentence...

What the world perceives as therapeutic is but what will make the body "better".

Yes or no...? If the body feels better I'm healed...I have a headache I'm going to have an aspirin, my body will feel better therefore I am healed. Yes or no? My pain disappeared so therefore I'm healed. Are you healed...? Are you still dreaming...? Ok, then you are not healed! Can you hear me? Let's see what Jesus says about it.

When it tries to heal the mind, it sees not separation from the body, where it thinks the mind exists. Its forms of healing must substitute illusion for illusion.

Yes or no? Is this what the body does? Is this what the world does? It substitutes one form of illusion for another. What has happened? Absolutely nothing! Nothing's happened, still dreaming, you're still aware of illusions, in fact your belief in illusions has been reinforced! You believe the aspirin has cured your headache; a form of illusion has affected you. You therefore reinforce the illusion.

Stay with me! Because I'm offering the solution. I'm offering an open door. Say to me: There is no solution within the context of the dream! None! It's not there where it is. At best, Jesus's been offered, you'll see a reflection of the solution within the context of the dream. And Jesus calls this a happy dream! And this is what I'm trying to offer you here. I'm trying to offer you a happy dream or a reflection of the resolution which is always light. Can you hear me? The Light is the answer you seek! The Light is the cure! The Light is the solution. And at best what you are going to discover within the context of your dream is a form of that solution, but it will still be a good form and it will still be an illusion except it will not generate more illusions. It will point towards the solution. Can you hear me? Ok. I'm trying to increase the frequency...so that you can stay in continual recognition.

The solution is not here...The solution is given you from outside this context...The solution is always a miracle.

How would I heal this sickness...? Miraculously! And only miraculously! There is not another way. Are you ok with me? How I will awaken from this dream...? Miraculously. There is no other way. I can not awaken by myself. I need to hear you say that...! Because I need you to understand it. You are awakened by Grace...! You are awakened by God!

You are awakened by being wrong about everything! This is the answer...! I love you... and I'm giving you a lot...I don't know how long I'm going to be around... And you are all over the place in time...you are all over...I am trying to gather you in. I am trying to show you where the Portal is, where the opening is. I am wrong about everything. There is a solution and it has been given me from outside the context. Where does this come from? Where do these words come from? Do they come from the dream...? Is it the dream that generates this...? It's obvious it comes from outside. The solution that you have been offered comes from outside the frame. It comes from God in another word...and is reaching you, finding you where you are, offering you the resolution. Ok?

One belief in sickness takes another form, and so the patient now perceives himself as well.

He is not healed. He merely had a dream that he was sick, and in the dream he found a magic formula to make him well. Yet he has not awakened from the dream, and so his mind remains exactly as it was before. He has not seen the light that would awaken him and end the dream. What difference does the content of a dream make in reality?

And this is important for all of you to see. The content of the dream is meaningless. It makes not difference, a dream is a dream. One either sleeps or wakens. There is nothing in between.

This is this provision, now, there is a transition from sleeping to waking. Let me try to help you with this. You may be given glimpses of light, that is not sufficient. There is an actual transition from dreaming to awakening. That is the provision given to you when you are ready for...when you decide, this is the time that I choose to awaken...! When you say I am ready for something else because my life sucks! Because I can't do this anymore...because I have got a problem with being myself. I need a solution that is not of my own making.

When you say this you are given a provision, and that provision is transition, in other words, you are given a dream, but is a transitional dream. It is a dream where which you recognise or you see reflections of awakening of the light within the context of your dream. That is what this provision is. What is El Portal del Cel? It is a transitional dream. Can you hear it? It's a dream but it will no lead you to another dreams. It's a dream which is a consistent application of the principle which is making the correction...you can call that Holy Spirit. It's the atonement in action. This is what this frequency is. That's the dream that's been offered.

When you walk in here you will be pointed toward atonement, in other words, you will be directed towards accepting responsibility for your dream which is what atonement is. Say to me I am responsible for what I see...wait a minute...hold on... I am responsible for what I see...! All right...! That is a profound responsibility isn't?

What about all the suffering...? I am responsible for what I see. What about all the pain...? I am responsible for what I see...Oh, shit! I need some help...! I need help...! All I can do is generate more suffering...everyplace I look I see suffering! You need help. You need to be in this position if you're going to hear me at all. If you are not in this position when you are asking for help you are not going to hear anything I say. You need to see just how desperate for help you are.

Say to me: I appear to be here and I therefore need help. There is no way out...! How do I get out of here...? Well I die...this is your problem! The problem is that you can't die...Your problem is that no one dies...you don't get out by dying...You just cycle back in, nothing happens! Trust me on this. You don't get up by dying, you only get up by waking up, this is a dream and the only way out is by awakening...! So, you need a provision, you need a transitional idea which will assist you as you awaken from this dream. It will be provide a context where in which your awakening is easy, effortless given by grace. That is this provision, is only as difficult as you make it. Come on! You've been given a provision! Use it! It's the same as this I've been studying the Course in Miracles for twenty years...! Oh, really! Have you heard this lesson? I've been reading it for twenty years.

Did you hear what Jesus just said? The only way out of this dream is accepting the dream that has been offered you from outside of the context. Letting go of your own altogether and accepting what is been offered to you.

Are you ready to wake up? Or you are resisting me still. Are you going to dream your own dream a little bit more? Are you offended at all? If I'm not offending you... You probably didn't hear me. This is my last chance. I'm leaving today. It's my last opportunity to giving you the solution. I am trying to offer you everything.

A couple of more sentences:

He has not seen the light that would awaken him and end the dream.

The happy dreams the Holy Spirit brings are different from the dreaming of the world, where one can merely dream he is awake.

That's what you are doing right now, you are dreaming you are awake but you're still sleep, nothing has really happen. You've transitioned from dreaming to what you call awake! But you're still a dreaming...this is a dream. I am awake! Look, there is no difference between the quality of this and the quality of your sleeping dream. You are completely at the mercy of the events that are going on outside you. That's a dream.

Now, listen to me very carefully...the solution is been given now. You've been offered another way of seeing, the solution from outside the context of your dream. You've been offered a dream which has been generated by the light within you until now denied.

There it is, you found the light! Right here! How do I know the light is here? Because I'm here. If I am here the light is here. I am the light of this world. The light is here with you. And the light is making adjustments in your individual dream. Trust me with this.

Each of you individually will receive me to the extend that you can, but adjustments are being made any case. There will be much more rapid if you receive me wholly, if you acknowledge that the light has come.

You know, when I saw this book for the first time I opened I had a look at it and immediately knew this was the light It was the light in it self that came to rescue. What did I do...? I closed it. I wanted nothing to do. But when I saw it I knew what it was. So don't fool yourself you know this is the light. That is been send to rescue, to cure you, to save you. Don't deny that. You can deny that you're ready for it and that's fine with me. That's honest. But don't deny this is what the light is because you're lying to yourself. You know this is the light and you know is been given you in order to save you. Whether or no you are ready is up to you. I can do nothing, I can tell you you're dreaming, and that you're suffering and that the solution has come!

The solution is here with you. The light is here with you. And only the light cures. Nothing else will cures. Nothing else will save you, only the light! Are you mature enough to receive that? Or are you going to argue with me a bit more? That's an individual matter and is you who are taking the decision by your own.

Now, how is this making appearance? I'll offer it to you...here it is. Something occurs within the context of your dream and you have the tendency to react as if something is actually occurring. Yes o no?

This is the solution; Instead of doing that, turn to the light, go to the light. When you go to the light the problem will disappear when you return the problem will be resolved. This is the answer that I'm offering to you, this is how easy it actually is. I'm teaching you to transcend your reactivity; you have the tendency to react to circumstances as if they have substance! And I just told you this is a dream, there is nothing going on here. And the only way you are going to know that with certainty is by turning to the light for the solution.

Whenever something arises, turn to the light! Go to the light! Go to the resolution and then when you return, the problem will be resolved. Why? Because the problem is not real! The problem has no substance! You give it substance by attending to it.

What happens to me when no one is hearing me? I leave. I have no interest in staying here. If I am not being heard, if I am not being received, I leave. I'm not going to make a problem by sticking around and trying to convince you. Why should I do that? Makes no sense! I look around...no one hears me, I leave. I go to the light! Can you hear me a little bit?

The same is true for you. You can do it any time you choose... If you are not being heard, go to the light! When you return, everything will be changed. When you return, the world will be a little bit more slide to hear what you have to say.

This is what you do; Sickness arises within the context of your dream. Your mother is sick...your sister is sick...your daughter is sick...someone is sick within the context of your dream. Now, you have the tendency to nurture the sickness as if is real. Yes o no? You have the tendency to console...oh...poor baby! I remember I called the old man once. I was in a totally turmoil, distressed! My partner had left me...run with another guy...I was in an extremely turmoil, I was really suffering...and he said: Oh! Did you stoup your toe?

He literally laughed at me! Can you not see you are doing it to your self? He would never acknowledge the sickness. He would only offer the solution. This is what I'm trying to do; this is what I'm trying to show you. The only way to transcend sickness is to stop acknowledging it! And you keep giving it energy. And this is true up to including this idea of teaching others. You are no teaching anyone. There is no one out there. You are only teaching yourself...and when it comes to the point when you not longer are interested in that exchange, you leave. You go to the light, and when you dropped back down here every thing will have changed. Your dream will have been accelerated.

So if someone comes to you and says I'm sick, my suggestion to you is, go to light. Don't acknowledge the sickness; go to the light and when you return everything will have change. This has to do with all forms of suffering no matter what the form takes. Of course you've been offered the light, when you go to the light there is a natural tendency to extend. I'm offering you the light of the resolution that I have just discovered in this instant! Because there is a solution to this and is no contained within the world context.

I just went to light and I came back and I offered the solution. Are you ok? Can you accept this now?

Let's finish reading this paragraph; this is the rest of the resolution (third paragraph).

The happy dreams the Holy Spirit brings are different from the dreaming of the world, where one can merely dream he is awake. The dreams forgiveness lets the mind perceive do not induce another form of sleep, so that the dreamer dreams another dream. His happy dreams are heralds of the dawn of truth upon the mind. They lead from sleep to gentle waking, so that dreams are gone. And thus they cure for all eternity.
